

1 | History 30: Unit 4 Exam Outline

---

Complete this exam outline in full to prepare for both the written and objective components of the next test. This outline, in addition to all the interactive activities found on the website, will help insure the best possible prospects for success.

1). Glossary

Compile a glossary for the following people, events, terms, etc. for the objective component of your exam.

Napoleonic Wars:

Napoleon:

Thomas Jefferson:

James Madison:

Impressing:

Indian Confederation:

Isaac Brock:

Battle of Tippecanoe:

Prophetstown:

William Hull:

John Brant:

York:

Laura Secord:

Charles de Salaberry:

Treaty of Ghent (1814):

Battle of Chateauguay:

Henry Proctor:

Battle of the Thames:

Responsible Government:

Joseph Howe:

William Lyons Mackenzie:

Louis-Joseph Papineau:

Legislative Council:

Executive Council:

Assembly:

Chateau Clique:

Parti Patriote:

Family Compact:

Political Deadlock:

Toronto Declaration (1837):

Durham's Solution:

Bloc Voting:

Louis Hippolyte la Fontaine:

Lord Elgin:

Rebellion Losses Bill (1849):

2). Written Questions

Answer the following questions to prepare for the written questions as found on your unit end exam. Remember that you get your answers for written questions from the tutorial readings (unless otherwise specified).

1). What made Tecumseh so suitable for establishing and leading the Pan-Indian Confederacy?

2). Why the Americans ultimately abandoned signing treaties with Indians and instead decided to settle the West through conquest and war?

3). Who won the War of 1812? Explain.

4). Explain specifically how the Westminster System of parliamentary democracy was based on the guiding principles of reason.

5). Is it or is it not appropriate to describe the colonial governing system of Canada (1820s-30s) as “undemocratic”? Explain.

6). Karl Marx introduced the world to the concept of "class struggle". Based on what we've learned about Nova Scotia's politics in the 1820s-30s is it accurate to say a class struggle existed there? Explain why or why not.